HERE

SPOOKY AND INSPIRING HALLOWEEN DISPLAY

The spooky spirit of Halloween comes to life as the annual adult-only Spectacular returns to the Roger Williams Park Zoo in Providence. Open now through Nov. 3, the 21st celebration features more than 5,000 hand-crafted and illuminated jack-o'-lanterns arranged along the zoo's scenic wartime Trail. This year's theme is “Bats and Britishness.”

Lowcountry and Music Fest

Every November, the South's top chefs, winemakers, artists, and musicians flock to Palmetto Bluff for Music to Meet and Move the Mind. Featuring world-renowned music and unique and creative dining experiences, guests can choose from over 30 events with live entertainment provided by country bluegrass, rock 'n' roll bands. A place to see where you can see it all: Palmetto Bluff's 20,000-acre residential and recreational preserve.

Century of Wine

The Treasured Collection of Wine in Portugal

EVERYWHERE

STYLIST WOOL FOOTWEAR FOR GLOBAL TRAVELERS

Cette

The collection of slippers in made with wool from Valais, a canton in the French-speaking part of Switzerland in the 15th century. This unique line of colorful slippers — easy to slip on and off, crafted in Portugal — is beloved by some travelers for their breathable properties keep feet cool and comfortable, while others find them to be a fashion statement.